

Double VISION

The key is to contrast two elements so you don't end up over doing the feminine quotient.

Dress prints.

A composite image featuring two photographs of the same woman in a maroon outfit. In the top right, she is shown from the waist up, pouring tea from a silver teapot into a small cup. In the bottom right, she is sitting cross-legged on a patterned rug, smiling and holding the teapot and cup. The background is a room with orange walls and a large arched window with a white lattice screen. A small decorative element is visible in the top left corner of the inset photo.
