A photograph of three women in traditional Indian attire, likely sarees, standing in a grand, ornate hall. The woman on the left is wearing a purple saree with gold borders. The woman in the center is wearing a red and gold saree with a gold blouse and a large gold necklace. The woman on the right is wearing a pink saree with gold borders. They are all wearing traditional jewelry, including headpieces, necklaces, and bangles. The background features a high ceiling with a large chandelier and ornate architectural details.
